Scholarly Communication Workshops – Fall 2012

Copyright on Campus: The Basics of Copyright Law

Have you ever wondered what copyright is all about and how it applies to you and the situations you may come across? Did you know that even you may be a copyright holder? In this workshop, participants will learn the basics of copyright law – its purpose, what it protects, when copyright protection attaches, what types of works are protected, etc. This workshop is for faculty, staff and students – whoever has an interest in learning the basics of copyright.

Library West
September 24, 2012 / 11:30 AM – 12:30 PM / Room 212 (25 registrants max)

Marston Science Library
September 25, 2012 / 9:30 AM – 10:30 AM / Room L107 (25 registrants max)

Health Science Center Library
September 27, 2012 / 3:00 PM – 4:00 PM / Room C2-41A (20 registrants max)

Sharing Scholarship and Reaching Research: Open Access 101

Traditionally, scholarly research has been available only through expensive journal subscriptions. However, the open access movement promotes that high quality, peer-reviewed research and journals should be available to everyone online for free immediately after publication. In this workshop, participants will learn more about the ideals of open access, the major statements of open access, the varieties of open access, and legislation for public access to federally funded research. This workshop is for anyone at UF who has never heard of or knows very little about the open access initiative and wishes to learn more.

Library West
October 22, 2012 / 2:00 PM – 3:00 PM / Room 212 (25 registrants max)

Marston Science Library
October 25, 2012 / 11:30 AM – 12:30 PM / Room L107 (25 registrants max)

Health Science Center Library
October 26, 2012 / 10:00 AM – 11:00 AM / Room C2-41A (20 registrants max)

Fair Use for Faculty and Other Instructors

Can you show a movie in class? Can you distribute copies of a newspaper article? What are you allowed to post on your Sakai site? What about your students’ work or their online postings? This workshop focuses on copyright issues in both the physical and online classroom. Participants will learn about the four factors of fair use, application of the TEACH Act to online teaching, and utilization of print and digital resources in their classes. Also, participants will learn how the library can help with electronic reserves and links to subscription materials. This workshop is intended for teaching faculty, instructors and graduate assistants.

Health Science Center Library
November 6, 2012 / 11:00 AM – 12:00 PM / Room C2-41A (20 registrants max)

Library West
November 7, 2012 / 4:00 PM – 5:00 PM / Room 212 (20 registrants max)

Marston Science Library
November 8, 2012 / 1:30 PM – 2:30 PM / Room L107 (20 registrants max)

Registration for workshops at Library West and Marston:
http://apps.uflib.ufl.edu/Registration/public_workshops_all.aspx

Registration for workshops at Health Science Center Library:
http://training.health.ufl.edu/public_workshops_scheduled.aspx?sponsor=15