The Office of Faculty Development and Teaching Excellence invites all UF researchers and instructors (faculty, lecturers and teaching assistants) to the Interface 2015 Seminar. This year's seminar is centered on "Critical Reflection in Action," and will include 10 minute lightning talks, round table discussion and a keynote presentation. The complete schedule for the event is available online at <http://interface.at.ufl.edu>

Eric Mazur, Ph.D. will be modeling interactive learning in his keynote presentation: "Flat Space, Deep Learning". To get the most out of this presentation, view the recording of his previous UF presentation: "Confessions of a Converted Lecturer". You can access this presentation through the Interface website. Interface 2015 attendees are urged to bring a mobile device that they can use to participate in the interactive session.

This event is intended to be a face-to-face forum; however, the lightning rounds and the keynote will be live streamed and recorded. Online access to these sessions can be found on the Interface website at <http://interface.at.ufl.edu>.

A free lunch will be provided; however, seating is limited and registration (no fee) is required. All instructors attending the face-to-face program will be entered in a drawing to win one of two iPad minis. You must be present to win.

Interface 2015 is sponsored by the University of Florida's Office of Faculty Development and Teaching Excellence in partnership with the Warrington College of Business Administration, The School of Forest Resources and Conservation, Distance and Continuing Education and Pearson Learning.
