

Student Recording/Submission

1. In Canvas, select the Assignment you want to submit.
2. If you need to purchase GoReact for this course, the first GoReact assignment you open will guide you through your purchase. (You only need to do this once per course. Hoorah!)
3. Click Create Video. Allow Adobe Flash access to your webcam

Note for Chrome users: Chrome now has a camera permission that must be allowed. You'll see this bar at the top. Click Allow to enable your webcam.

The screenshot shows the Canvas interface for an assignment titled "Final: The Art of Public Speaking". The breadcrumb trail is "PS150 > Assignments > Final: The Art of Public Speaking". On the left is a navigation menu with "Assignments" selected. The main content area has a header with "Final: The Art of Public Speaking" and a red "A" badge. To the right are buttons for "Create Video" and "Upload", and a "40" points indicator. Below the header are sections for "Recording Instructions" (with a "More..." link), "Feedback Instructions" (with a "More..." link), "My Submissions" (stating "You haven't submitted anything yet..."), and "Peer Submissions" (stating "No peer submissions available...").

4. Click Record. To Stop or Pause, click Stop, then Resume if needed.

The screenshot shows the GoReact recording interface. The breadcrumb trail is "PS150 > Assignments > Final: The Art of Public Speaking". The main area is a video recording window showing a man with a beard in a light blue shirt. On the right side of the recording window, there is a "Record" button with a red dot, a "Done" button, and a timer showing "00:00". At the bottom right, there are links for "Recording Hel...", "Video checklist", and "Troubleshootin...". The GoReact logo is visible in the bottom right corner of the interface.

5. To trim the beginning or ending of your video, click the scissors icon to enter Trim Mode. Then click and drag the handles at either end of the trim bar. When finished, click Post at the top of the video window. To cancel your trim, exit Trim Mode by clicking the scissors button again.

You're done! Now, celebrate with a nice grilled cheese. Or a much-needed nap.
